

Open It on Your Phone — Fix Log

Fabiana Alves Ferreira

1. Task

Audit the live portfolio across mobile, tablet, and desktop widths; fix anything genuinely broken (text, images, buttons, links); keep a short fix log documenting what was found and what was changed.

Site audited: <https://fabiana-alves-ferreira.netlify.app/>

2. Real device test

Tested on a real Android phone (not a resized browser window), going through every page in both language versions: Home, Proof/Case Study, About, Contact — PT and EN. Text legible, contrast adequate, images sharp, buttons easy to tap, and the language toggle working both ways. No visual issues found in this pass.

3. Problems found and fixed

#	What was broken	What changed
1	Resume link opened a Google Doc in edit mode — slow to load and unprofessional on mobile.	Resume rebuilt as a real 3-page PDF and hosted directly on the site, instead of depending on Google Docs.
2	GitHub README had placeholder links — “Customer Churn” pointed to github.com/home, and LinkedIn pointed to linkedin.com/home.	Both links fixed to their real destinations (project repository and LinkedIn profile), and BrigadeiraStock added to the project list.
3	Featured GitHub repositories showed course exercises, not BrigadeiraStock (Case 2 on the portfolio).	BrigadeiraStock pinned as a featured repository on the profile.
4	On the Proof page, the Chile image's caption sat flush against the “The Result” heading right below it, no spacing between them.	Added consistent spacing after every captioned image site-wide (global CSS rule, applies to all pages).

4. Checklist

- Opened every page on a real phone: Home, Proof/Case Study, About, Contact, and the /en/ version.
- No text overflow, cramped spacing, or anything too small to read.
- CTA buttons (“See the Chile case,” “Schedule a conversation”) easy to tap.
- Image sharpness checked on mobile: chile-rua.jpg, foto-pessoal.jpg, brigadeira-codigo.jpg, brigadeira-site.jpg.

- Every link clicked manually: nav, CTA, email, LinkedIn, GitHub, resume, PT/EN toggle.
- Resume PDF confirmed to open cleanly on mobile after the fix.
- Also checked at tablet and desktop widths.
